Revival Services.

Salyersville has had almost continuous revival services for the past three months, conducted by ministers of the Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches.

The christian people of Salyersville are greatly encouraged by the results of these three revivals. It remains to be seen what permanent results come from these revivals.

It is easier for the driftwood of a stream to stay in a current than it is for it to lodge on the bank so long as the current is strong. When the current begins to weaken then it is that the drift begins to go to the bank and it takes some effort to stay in the current.

So it is with the christian life. So long as all are in the current of revival meetings the christian has easy sailing, but when the revivals are over and we begin to deal with the humdrum or every day life we find that we are not so strong. It is then that we need to assert our strength. It is then that the weaklings begin to lodge—some on intemperance snags, some on the bank of do-nothing, some on the boulders of backbiting and tattling, etc. The world as well as the church does not judge our religion by the revival or Sunday dress parade that we give to it.

They must be shown that our religion is like an every day garment—that it will give us service every day in the week as well as on Sunday.

While the Ministers of these various congregations have differed on some things they are united on paramount issues of the day—sin and lawlessness. They are all out spoken on these issues as these are the great draw back to the progress of all that is good. If these meetings have so broadened our views and have given us sufficient courage to stand in one solid phalanx against sin and lawlessness and to be out spoken against them always, Salyersville shall reap rich rewards from them.

On the other hand if the various members of churches imbued the idea that the christians duty is to fight denominations rather than sin and lawlessness then we fear the results of these services shall not be so uplifting and so helpful to Salyersville as they should have been.

Our motto should be, "United we stand divided we fall" in county and town as well as State government. If we profess to be christians then we should endeavor to follow Christ in being always out spoken against sin and lawlessness—the life-sapping institutions of mankind. Such are some of the fruits of true religion.

Our Announcement.

A few weeks ago the Editor of the Mountaineer made the announcement that he would be a candidate for delegate to the National Convention at Chicago.

We are for Roosevelt for President first last and all the time.

We believe that we can more effectively champion his cause by not being a candidate for delegate. For this reason we desire to withdraw our announcement.

$1000 Raised in Thirty Minutes Sunday Night by Rev. R. B. Neal, of Grayson, Ky., for a Local Organization.

Last Saturday night Rev. R. B. Neal, of Grayson, who has been holding revival services here for several days, preached one of his powerful sermons on the duty of christians to unite in the cause of Christ. He told of some of the great accomplishments of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Sunday morning at the Methodist Sunday School Captain Jeff Prater proposed to start a subscription for this work and had three hundred dollars pledged before Sunday School was over. Rev. Neal was requested to ask for subscriptions Sunday night and one thousand and ten dollars were pledged in thirty minutes. Following is a list of the public spirited donors who are anxious to have an institution where our boys and men may read, study, bathe, exercise and loaf without the demoralizing environment that is so often present among men:

Contrary Fork of Pricy.

Editor Mountaineer:—News is as scarce here as alligators are at the North Pole.

Laughing Bill Boomer came down the other day laughing as though he would die. I said what's the fun Bill? He said the funniest thing—ha! ha! ha! about five minutes. He caught his breath and said, "The funniest thing happened at our house that I ever knew." Then he continued, "seventeen"—and laughed and roared until I had to laugh. He caught his breath and said, "Seventeen of my children had the measles and I guess the whole family would have had them if they hadn't run out." And he laughed and laughed. Bill is a merry old soul.

I see that Ruie Johnson has been writing you as though he is a great fellow. Now I just want to tell you that he has one wonderful fault. He's like a good many other young men in this settlement too. He's the biggest coward of the whole Johnson generation. I was 57 years old when Ruie first gazed into his mother's eyes and if I couldn't take a fishing pole and run Ruie all over the place it would be because he was spiked up on moonshine or moonred one.

You see it's this way. Ruie runs with a passel of boys that's as rough as they get to be, and he's got to be one of the biggest in the bunch. Now I wasn't a tin angel when I was a young man myself. In fact I was a pretty hard knot until after the war. During those four years I learned a thing or two. But if I do say it myself I never was a sneakish coward as Ruie and a lot of his chums are. I never thought of carrying a gun in my hip pocket in order to be brave.

If a man is so plug-taked cowardly that he'd rather carry a gun than to run the risk of having his nose mashed rather than to be called a coward, I say that he's the worst kind of a coward. Now Ruie was a pretty decent kind of a chap until his father let him take up with a gang that wasn't worth powder and lead to kill them with and then he got that Johnson ambition aroused to key him up with the leaders of the gang and he's gone some wonderful gaits.

When I was a boy folks would drink and talk and not be fussy, but sarn my skin if the war or the government or something else hasn't made an odacious change in liquors as well as people. For the last few years I've been progressive—I've stopped using liquor at all except in camphor for the old woman.

But I declare I don't believe Ruie or a single one of his crowd would fight a Thomas cat without having a lot of liquor under his belt and a gun swung to his side. It goes all over me to see such young men going to waste. If my rheumatism and religion didn't prevent it I'd get Ruie out and show him how young men fought in my day. I'm awful tempted to do it and I may do so before you hear from me again. It would be Ruie's salvation.

You're truly,

Old Mr. Johnson turn me loose.

Dear Editor:—I have received only two papers since I subscribed for your paper. I like to read it so well that I read it over and over and like it better and better.

The Mineral men have been paying off some of the people in this vicinity.

Aggie Montgomery, aged about 80 years, is confined to her bed.

Pearl Clemons was in this neighborhood last week looking him out a farm.

Hanson Row sold his two miles to B. F. Row, and he is going to ship them to Texas.

Corn is current at $1.00 per bushel in this part of the county. Hurrah! for the hard times. We need not blame no political party for scarcity of corn. I say hurrah! for the Editor when he says select good moral, sober, honest men for our county officers.

Burton and Harvey Break Jail

But State Guards Assist in Re-capturing Them.

"Burton is out! Burton is out!" was the alarm that was given at 10 o'clock Thursday morning when Berry Burton who was held without bail, and Charley Harvey, who was held in default of $2,500 bond for the murder of Sam P. Simer, were making their escape across the valley of the State Road Fork.

They were in the corridor with other prisoners and dealt for water when Coon Lovely, deputy jailor, went to the cage, opened the door and stooped down for the water bucket, Burton rushed around the corner and struck Lovely on the head with a chair post, that he had secured by breaking up a chair. This blow almost knocked Lovely to the floor when Burton struck him the second time and Lovely clinched him. Lovely then threw Burton on the floor when Harvey tried to break Lovely's hold. A government prisoner then loosed Harvey's hold on Lovely. Harvey then broke Lovely's revolver holster and wrested the revolver from Lovely and gave the revolver to Burton. They rushed down stairs running over Mrs. Brown, the jailor's wife who had heard the fuss and was coming up the stairway.

Claud Patrick had heard the alarm and was swinging to the jail door on the outside, and Dr. J. S. Cisco was rushing to his aid when the two prisoners jerked the door open. Burton threw his gun in Patrick's face until Harvey came by Patrick. Burton then threw the revolver on Dr. Cisco, running backwards until the corner of the jail house was reached, when they both ran up State Road Valley. They were followed by Louis Marshal and

If the Salyerville business and professional people support the Mountaineer, we can easily make a better paper than we now have. If they withdraw their advertisement we will be compelled to cut down our force of men, thereby giving you an inferior paper.

Now if you have any dealings in Salyerville, deal with the public spirited people who advertise or ask the people with whom you deal to advertise. These non-advertiser will have many excuses but they either do not have what the other fellow has who advertises, or they are too stingy to put any money in advertising.

The advertising rates of other Mountain papers are twice as much as ours. So you see that we are not over charging.

Death of Thomas Prater.

On Sundry, the 3rd day of March, relatives and friends congregated at the Prater Grave Yard on the Burning Fork, to witness the burial of Uncle Thomas Prater. The burial was conducted under the auspices of the Ionic order, of which he was member, and notwithstanding inclement weather every detail of the exercises was successfully carried out with impressive effect.

An unusual crowd that attended the burial, under the unfavorable conditions, was a high tribute of respect to his memory. His remains were lowered to their last resting place, the hills being shrouded in robes of spot-snow, emblematical of the life and character of him whose death was mourned. He was 87 years and six months of age. His death was not unexpected. For weeks he had struggled, heroically with the grim reaper and at last conquered. For weeks he had been a devoted member of the M. E. Church, and the simple rustic life that he lived may well be emulated by both young and old. While he was not a teacher, in the common acceptance of the term, but in its true meaning, which is teacher, he taught by actions what he believed rather than by words, daily walks through life and death under adversities as well, when the hand of destiny had upon him, was one conscious sermon, more eloquent than human lips could express.

Reflecting upon the sorrows, temptations and the misfortunes that come to their turn to and the discontentment of life, even to those who are less fortunate and the favors of this world can bestow, must think that man was created for a higher purpose than here fulfil, and that death the burial does not end all, but there is a better life to be led for beyond the grave.

The death of Uncle Thomas Prater the country has lost a modest citizen and a vacancy is made in his family circle.

He had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for about 71 years. He was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason at Salyerville, in 1879. Now, whereas this brother has entered the fruition of his immortality and heard the morning call of eternity, saying "it is enough, come up higher."

W. J. Patrick has gone to Cincinnati to purchase his spring and summer line of goods.

Mrs. W. B. Caraway, of West Liberty, is visiting her husband, who has been working on the Mountaineer the past several weeks.

(We omitted this local in last week's issue, so if we fail to make a note of your visit or return don't jump at the conclusion that it was intentional.)

Charley Patrick took charge of the Prater House March 1st, and the Revs. R. B. Neal, C. M. Summers and Thomas Green and the editor of the Mountaineer were the guests of Capt. Prater at the Prater House on that day. We predict a great success for Mr. Patrick if he continues to care for his guests as he has begun.

Revival Closes.

Tuesday night the revival services of the Christian Church conducted by Rev. R. B. Neal and Rev. C. M. Summers were closed.

During the three-week meeting twenty two were added to the local church.

The following were baptized Monday and Tuesday. Ulah Cisco, Walter Prater, Mrs. Wanah Prater, Callie Mann, Dean Gardner, Frank Foster, Addie Trusty, Edgar Pendleton, Mrs. S. H. Mann, Glenn Sublett, Herman Cooper.

These Ministers succeeded in getting a site for the new Christian Church building progress here.

They ordained three officers of this church and decided on Sunday Morning immediately after Sunday School to take the Lord's Supper.

They were instrumental in starting the following undenominational movements:

Y. M. C. A., F. E. B., and Y. P. S. C. E.

Mrs. Jeff Prater entertained the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church Feb. 28. Fruits and candies were served. The following were present:

Burton and Harvey Break Jail

But State Guards Assist in Re-capturing Them.

"Burton is out! Burton is out!" was the alarm that was given at 10 o'clock Thursday morning when Berry Burton who was held without bail and Charley Harvey, who was held in default of $2,500 bond for the murder of Sam P. Simer, were making their escape across the valley of the State Road Fork.

They were in the corridor with other prisoners and called for water when Coon Lovely, deputy jailor, went to the cage, opened the door and stooped down for the water bucket. Burton rushed around the corner and struck Lovely on the head with a chair post, that he had secured by breaking up a chair. This blow almost knocked Lovely to the floor when Burton struck him the second time and Lovely clinched him. Lovely then threw Burton on the floor when Harvey tried to break Lovely's hold. A government prisoner then loosed Harvey's hold on Lovely. Harvey then broke Lovely's revolver holster and wrested the revolver from Lovely and gave the revolver to Burton. They rushed down stairs running over Mrs. Brown, the jailor's wife who had heard the fuss and was coming up the stairway.

Caud Patrick had heard the alarm and was swinging to the jail door on the outside, and Dr. J. S. Cisco was rushing to his aid when the two prisoners jerked the door open. Burton threw his gun in Patrick's face until Harvey came by Patrick. Burton then threw the revolver on Dr. Cisco, running backwards until the corner of the jail house was reached, when they both ran up State Road Valley. They were followed by Louis Marshal and others, and threw the revolver on these men, warning them not to follow.

When the alarm was given some of the State Guards rushed to the top of the court house and fired two shots as the prisoners went over the Burning fork ridge, cutting a fence wire near them.

John H. Patriek, ex-sheriff, who was on the other side of the ridge spoke to them. Burton was 10 feet away and leveled the forty four on Patriek and demanded his mule. Patriek had no gun but said, "you can kill me but you can't have my mule."

Burton and Harvey went down the hill toward the Burning fork road and hollowed to James Crace and Doc Spradlin saying, that they would come down and give up if they would prevent their being hurt. This was agreed and the surrender was made.

They were returned to jail where they were put in a cell. Both prisoners cried for some time, fearing the jailor would punish them.

Burton served one term in the penitentiary for the murder of Leander Holiday in Morgan county and is regarded as a desperado in this community.

Born to the wife of Jack Patrick March 1st, an extra fine boy.

In reflecting upon the sorrows, the temptations and the misfortunes that come in their turn to all, and the discontentment of this life, even to those who are blessed prosperity and the favors such as this world can bestow, we must think that man was created for a higher purpose than he can here fulfil, and that death and the burial does not end all, that there is a better life to be hoped for beyond the grave.

In the death of Uncle Thomas Prater the country has lost a model citizen and a vacancy is made in the family circle.

are again made to note the silent tread of the last enemy, whose hand continues to wield the inevitable scythe of destruction, and at whose bidding the heart that has been drumming the life march of earth for these long years has ceased to perform its functions. Thus an other spirit has returned unto God who gave it.

"Uncle Thomas Prater," as he was called by all who knew him, departed this life at his home near Salyerville, on March the 1st, 1912. Age, 87 years.

He had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for about 71 years. He was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason at Salyerville, in 1879. Now, whereas, this brother has entered the fruition of his immortality and heard the morning call of eternity, saying 'it is enough, egypt up higher.'

Be it resolved: That we point with pride to the Christian and Masonic world, the noble and character of our departed brother, and that we emulate his integrity and devotion in everything that makes men and the world better by having lived here; so when the voice that called us hence, from whom it gave him grief to part, may we join him in that Grand Lodge above, where no "Silver cord will be loosened," or "Golden bowl be broken," but will dwell throughout eternity, with the Grand Master of the universe presiding.

Be it further resolved: that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the Masonic Home Journal, and Kentucky Mountaineer for publication and one to the widow of Another Republican's View.

GIFFORD.

Mr. Editor:—I saw a request in the Mountaineer asking all Republicans in Magoffin county to say what they thought about using money and whiskey in the primary. I am against the use of whisky first, last and all the time in every conceivable way that can be thought of. It is a deadly enemy to morality. It has besmirched the fair name of Eastern Kentucky. It is the cause, directly or indirectly, of nine-tenths of all the murders that are committed in our country. In fact it is the leading factor in nearly all crimes. Money is a good thing in its place but its place is not in the primary. So, in conclusion, will say that I am very bitter against the use of money and whisky in the primary or any other election. Long live the Mountaineer.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of Execution No. 10348 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's office of the Magoffin Circuit Court in favor of Commonwealth of Kentucky against Ashland Patrick and Green Patrick, I, or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 25th day of March, 1912, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., at the court house door in the town of Salyersville, Magoffin county, Ky., expose to Public Sale to the highest bidder, the following property (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy Plaintiff's debt, interest and costs), to-wit:

Lying and being in Magoffin county, Ky., on the waters of Cow Creek, a tributary of Johnson fork, a tributary of Licking river, bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Beginning on a beech tree at the upper end of David Whitaker's line near the creek on the right hand side of the creek; thence with said Whitaker's line to the top of the ridge to a hickory; thence up the said ridge to the head of a small drain to a white oak marked; thence down the drain to the mouth to a sourwood marked near the creek; thence a straight line to the top of the ridge between Cow Creek and Puncheon Creek to a chestnut marked; thence down the ridge to the said Whitaker's line to the beginning, excluding out of aforementioned boundary all the land this day deeded from grantor to J. F. Patrick, known as the Wilson Wages survey, patented in 1877. This being the same tract of land conveyed from W. C. Reed and Mary Jane Reed, his wife, to Green Patrick, recorded in deed book No. 8, page 463, Magoffin County records, containing 200 acres more or less.

This tract of land will be sold for cash in hand for the amount of $44.00 and $26.60 cost including interest from date of judgment till paid and Sheriff's commission for collecting and advertising.

Levied on as the property of Green Patrick.

Witness my hand, this 27th day of Feb. 1912.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of Execution No. 10,375 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's office of the Magoffin Circuit Court, in favor of James May against Smith May I, or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 25th day of March, 1912, between the hours of 8 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., at the court house door in the town of Salyersville, Magoffin county, Ky., expose to public sale to the highest bidder the following property (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy Plaintiff's debt, interest and costs), to-wit:

A tract of real property lying and being in Magoffin county, Ky., on the waters of Elk Creek, a tributary of Licking River, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Lot No. 7, beginning on the corner of lot No. 6, thence south 13, thence east to a walnut at the road marked; thence a straight line across the bottom to the beginning.

Also lot No. 7 up the branch, beginning on horn beam, on corner of lot No. 6; thence up the branch with Betty May's line to the mouth of Jeff Gibson's branch; thence up the branch with its meanders to a marked beech corner; thence south 18, west up the hill to the line of lot No. 6, up the branch; thence with said line down the point to the beginning. This being the same land conveyed to Smith May by J. L. May, Commissioner for W. X. May, etc., in an action in the Magoffin Circuit Court in a division of the estate of Preston May, deceased, among his children. Said deed is dated the 26th day of June, 1899, recorded Commissioner's deed book No. 2, page 82, Magoffin County record.

This execution will be sold for cash in hand, and subject to a $400 mortgage which W. X. May holds against said farm. Amount of execution $500, cost $43.90, interest 6 per cent from date of judgment, levied on as the property of Smith May.

Witness my hand, this 26th day of Feb. 1912.
